

THE official watch of the FIFA 2010 World Cup Champions. Que viva Espana!

To honour the incredible journey of the World Cup winning Spanish team, Hublot, Official Timekeeper of the FIFA 2010 World Cup, is dedicating the ultimate and exclusive official competition watch, the "FIFA World Cup™ Winner's watch", THE official timepiece of the World Cup Champions, to them.

A Big Bang in the Spanish national colours and the gold of the famous Trophy, of course.

Sunday 11th July 2010 will remain engraved on the memory: in their first ever FIFA World Cup final, Spain succeeded Italy by achieving a historic victory which crowned them the kings of football, a title the country is adding to their European Championship win in EURO 2008™.

A team of exceptional players made this triumphant journey possible, and Hublot was with them right from the very beginning of their adventure, both as Official Timekeeper of the FIFA 2010 World Cup, and Official Timekeeper of EURO 2008™, and as the team's partner during the competition, such was the degree to which their talent and their desire to win had already convinced Hublot's CEO, Jean-Claude Biver.

And maybe the story will not end there... With the next FIFA World Cup taking place in 2014 in Brazil, for which Hublot will once again be the Official Timekeeper, and in keeping with footballers' superstitious beliefs, we would like to think that Hublot could bring the Spanish team good luck. Who knows...? And today, the Swiss watchmaking brand is dedicating a special creation to them... as a symbol of their victory, THE official souvenir, preserving this fantastic historic event forever.

Some information on the "FIFA World Cup™ Winner's watch", THE official watch of the FIFA World Cup Champions

The model is a Big Bang 44 mm Gold Ceramic Automatic Chronograph, which proudly bears the Spanish national colours and the gold of the legendary FIFA World Cup trophy: The case is fashioned in 5N pink gold, with a satin-finished black ceramic bezel, and the exclusive logo representing the FIFA 2010 World Cup winners featured in a subtle gold tone at 3 o'clock on a matt navy blue dial. The 45-minute counter (to register half and full time...) specially developed by Hublot for the footballing world features at 9 o'clock.

The Spanish colours of red and yellow figure on the indexes, the two hands and on the double stitching of the rubber Alligator strap, consisting of a rubber interior stitched to an upper alligator layer. On the back of the watch, the opaque sapphire crystal case-back is decorated with the Spanish flag and the gold Star which is the World Cup Champions' symbol. It is inscribed with the words 2010 FIFA WORLD CUP SOUTH AFRICA™ CHAMPION.

Only 100 numbered watches will be produced. It will appeal to collectors who wish to have the ultimate official souvenir of the competition and of this historic victory.
